important points of difference between the two countries—There are the exertions made by the patriotic minority in Congress, and by the majority of people in the Northern and Eastern States. It is now more important than ever to persevere—Perseverance alone can secure to us a prosperous and happy result. The people of New-York then come forth and express their sense at the Polls, placing in office men on whom they may depend for a final adjustment of affairs on fair and honorable terms. The influence of this State is all-important upon the councils of the Union. Our commerce will again be prostrated, and interests of agriculture sacrificed, unless the voice of the People be efficiently expressed. Every thing depends on the Treaty which is to be made. The rights of the Northern and Eastern States must be felt and consulted, or the anti-commerce spirit and policy of VIRGINIA will again prevail and destroy them. Let the people of this State be true to themselves, and all will be well.

Contrast with the above the determination of France as communicated by Mr. Livingston in a letter long suppressed by our administration. These are his words: "The Emperor (meaning Napoleon) became highly indignant, and declared that his Decrees should suffer no change, and that the Americans should be compelled to take the alternative character of either ALLIES OR ENEMIES"—What have our administrations done to repel this insulting attempt to involve us in a destructive WAR?

Extract of a letter from the Federal General Committee, dated New-York, Saturday 22nd April, 6 o'clock afternoon.

In consequence of the probable adjustment of our differences with Great-Britain, the French party here is confounded—Every good man rejoices—The Federal cause is reduced to a certainty—Our opponents droop beneath the death blow which a glorious intelligence has given to them."

THE above intelligence was announced by the Federalists in Albany, by the ringing of bells, firing of cannon, and other demonstrations of joy.
